STORY OF HORROR AT SMYRNA

TURK NATIONALIST ARMY ADVANCES ON CONSTANTINOPLE

INVASION OF THRACE IS RUMORED IN CAPITAL

HUNDREDS DYING

Tens of Thousands Living Choke Marmora Ports; Aid Is Dispatched.

Massacres of far reaching proportions are reported to have occurred at Smyrna following the terrible conflagration which has just swept the city.

The first reports came from Greek sources and estimated the victims as high as 1,000 to 2,000. Later reports from British army witnesses and from Americans arriving at Greek ports tended to confirm the massacres and gave horrifying accounts of the extent of the devastation.

A correspondent of Reuters arriving at Malta, said hundreds of bodies of the victims were lying in the streets of Smyrna which he left and the pillaging and massacring were continuing. The Greeks were not blamed, he declared, as they had aroused the Turks by setting fires to villages during the retreat of the Greek army.

On the 10th of the British consulate at Smyrna by the Turks and the murder of an official there also were reported. Disputes from Athens quoted an American investigator as estimating the number of victims at up to 10,000. The property lost from the fire is estimated in the Greek papers at $75,000,000 at present rate of exchange. It fell on American firms.

A message from Greek semi-official sources from Athens, dated Thursday, reads: "Absolutely trustworthy persons belonging to the foreign colonies at Smyrna and notably American, arriving here, brought U. S. Consul General Horton, relate terrifying details regarding the massacre of Smyrna following the big fire which reduced the city to a heap of ruins."

It seems probable the Turks will be given a joint ultimatum to respect the neutrality of the Constantinople district in the meantime, and not march upon that city, nor invade Thrace.

BULLETIN. London.—The British fleet has been instructed to allow no Turkish troops to cross from Asia to Europe, was officially announced Friday.

BULLETIN. London.—It is believed that 34 naturalized Americans, reported missing in Smyrna, are American citizens, which comprises the bulk of the American population in Smyrna. They were at the Paradise college compound, three miles from the city, according to a telegram dated Sept. 12. Several teachers of this college already have fled.

Athens.—An American destroyer arrived Thursday at Piræus from Smyrna with the American consul and several other Americans, and refugees. A dispatch from Constantinople said naturalized Americans in Smyrna were being taken to Athens, accompanied by George Horton, American consul general, on board the torpedo boat destroyer, Simpson.

The destroyer reports that the Turks entered the British consulate at Smyrna, killed an official who was assembling the archives, says a Reuters dispatch from Athens today.

Postmaster Wilkinson is also said to have been murdered, as well as several other officials, including the consul general, is believed to have escaped on a warship.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. Constantinople.—The Turkish nationalist army has sent an ultimatum to the allied powers, demanding the evacuation of their forces from the city to permit the entry of the Turkish nationalist army.

Another is that nationalist troops have crossed over to the Gallipoli peninsula from Chanak, planning to march into Thrace with the object of taking Adrianople.

Rodosto and other ports on the sea of Marmora are choked with refugees, who are arriving by the tens of thousands in an appalling state of misery. Hundreds are dying before they can be landed. The Near East Relief has dispatched a ship load of foodstuffs and medicines for Rodosto in charge of Col. Stephen P. Lowe, of St. Louis.

Ten thousand Armenian refugees have arrived in the Daphnion on five vessels and will be given shelter in the Armenian churches of the city.

Christians Slain by Thousands by Turks at Smyrna

(By Associated Press)

London.—From 1,000 to 2,000 Christians had been massacred in Smyrna by the Turks before the fire which swept the Armenian and other quarters of the seaport recently evacuated by the Greek army, it is charged in semi-official and other Greek messages from Athens received here today.

Among the Turkish outrages was the carrying off of many girl pupils of the American Girls' college, it is alleged.

The Greek belief is that the fire was set by the Turks to conceal traces of their alleged misdeeds.

A considerable share of the property loss from the fire, estimated at one billion francs (about $75,000,000 at present rate of exchange) fell on American firms.

Set City Afire—A message from Greek semi-official sources from Athens, dated Thursday, reads:

"Absolutely trustworthy persons belonging to the foreign colonies at Smyrna and notably American, arriving here, brought U. S. Consul General Horton, relate terrifying details regarding the massacre of Smyrna following the big fire which reduced the city to a heap of ruins."

A Greek army, European consuls, and the British consulate at Smyrna by the Turks and the murder of an official there also were reported. Disputes from Athens quoted an American investigator as estimating the number of victims at up to 10,000. The property lost from the fire is estimated in the Greek papers at $75,000,000 at present rate of exchange. It fell on American firms.

According to the general conviction the fire was started by the Turks to efface traces of their massacres and other crimes. Mrs. Mills, matron of the American College for Girls, declares she saw an officer of the Turkish regular army enter a house carrying several cans of petrol. Soon after he came out the house burst into flames.

Girls' Fate Unknown—Besides the pupils, about 1,000 refugees had been taken into the college, which was near the place where the fire started.

State Acts to Head off Profiteering in Coal

(By Associated Press.)

Madison.—Definite steps to head off profiteering by Wisconsin coal dealers were taken by the state committee Friday with the submission of a bill to the legislature. The bill provides for the appointment of a committee to investigate the coal business in the state and to report thereon to the legislature.

The committee was organized by the state coal commission, which is headed by Dr. C. C. Saltsdale, and includes representatives of the coal industry and the public.

The committee will be able to determine whether local dealers are asking exorbitant prices in sales to customers. It will also be able to determine whether the coal industry is in a position to handle the coal business in the state.

Dr. C. C. Saltsdale, University of Wisconsin professor, testified that the coal business in the state is in a position to handle the coal business in the state.

LAWRENCE LETTER BEAT THE WORLD ON STRIKE STORY

Readers of the Gazette had a direct advantage over those of other newspapers in reference to the settlement of the railroad strike of shopmen as announced officially on Wednesday. In the letter from David Lawrence, the Gazette's Washington correspondent, published in the Week-End Gazette last Saturday, Sept. 9, nearly every detail of the final settlement plan was printed, even including the names of the larger systems of railroads involved. Each day the Lawrence letter covers some particularly important event. Usually the news is anticipated far ahead of other correspondents. Lawrence is on the inside and Gazette readers get the benefit. This is one reason why the Gazette is an "Unusual News" paper.

ST. PAUL SHOPMEN EXPECTED BACK ON JOB FRIDAY NIGHT

LOCAL STRIKERS REACH DECISION AT MADISON CONFERENCE.

C. & N. W. STILL OUT

St. Paul Men Go Back on Same Relative Position of June 30.

Shopmen on the St. Paul railway at Janesville, on strike 77 days, were expected to start returning to work Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

This step follows settlement of the railroad strike of the unions with the head of the road and a conference at Madison, Friday morning, by six Janesville St. Paul craftsmen with J. A. MacDonald, superintendent of St. Paul division. The same decision was taken by Madison St. P. shopmen.

Report of the conference was to be acted upon by local strikers meeting here Friday afternoon. If they act favorably, some men will be back before 11 p. m. Friday, said Charles Swan, secretary of the local strikers' organization.

No Decision on Seafarers. Some were expected to start back to work at 3 p. m. Friday and others at 7 p. m. and 11 p. m. Saturday, according to a statement made by Mr. MacDonald over the long distance telephone.

"The men go back on the same relative position as on June 30," said Mr. MacDonald.

Both sides differ in defining "relative position," from a strikers standpoint, Mr. MacDonald said. This problem is to be left to a commission of six representatives of the unions and six representing the railroad. The non-union men who have been working at the St. Paul machine and car repair shops will be permitted to retain their jobs, although it is not decided what their seniority will be compared with the returning workers.

C. & N. W. Men Still Out—Janesville shopmen were represented at Madison by Robert Stanton, chairman of the bolshemakers; Charles Neave, chairman of the machinists; William Dowd, chairman of the carmen; William J. Dermott, chairman of the blacksmiths; and Charles Swan, secretary of the machinists.

No word of settlement of the strike on the Chicago & North Western has been received by officials here. A. J. Remmens, local Northwestern agent, is in Chicago Friday.

Strikers' Cases Adjudged—Adjournment for another week was taken in the cases of six Janesville strikers accused of violating the United States injunction, according to an announcement Friday by Charles A. Enslow, local attorney for the men. He said he talked with the law department of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway at Chicago Friday morning, receiving the information. The offenders were to have come up in U. S. federal court at Superior Friday.

"Expectations are the cases will be dismissed," said Attorney Enslow. "We have 20 affidavits with which to fight the action."

The men said to be implicated are Harold Bick, 22, and Wallace S. Smith, 20, St. Paul shopmen, charged with calling Reuben Bickie, 423 North Main street, a "yellow scab"; and William McDermott, 24 South Pearl street; H. A. Seibel, 14 Oak street; Gustav Kovack, 817 1/2 North Terrace street. The last four are alleged to have violated the injunction by "unlawful consorting."

Edward Lutze, Milwaukee, special agent of the St. Paul on duty here, and George Ryan, foreman of the St. Paul roundhouse on South Pearl street, were in Superior Friday.

NEW GRADING PLAN ON WIS. POTATOES

Help Market Prices by Offering on Better Quality "Spuds."

Compulsory carlot potato inspection will not be enforced by the state department of markets this year, B. B. Jones in charge of standardization and inspection for the department, announced today. Instead, a cooperative voluntary inspection service maintained by the state and federal government is to be instituted.

The change in the plan of potato inspection will do away with all but 25 of the 40 inspectors who were employed during the last season. Official inspections hereafter will be made only on application to the supervisor of the district in which the shipper does business, with a fee of $3 a car established.

Mr. Jones said that the state grading rules will be enforced more strictly than ever before. Shippers are held responsible for carrying out grading regulations, which if violated subject the guilty party to a $500 fine or imprisonment for six months. The department may also revoke the right of any shipper to use the state grades.

Name Supervisors.—All sacked Wisconsin potatoes must be tagged showing the grade and net weight, while all bulk cars must have a sign showing the shipper's name and address and the shipping point.

The following supervising inspectors are named by the state department of markets:

Southern district, R. E. Ades, Wautoma.

Central district, J. C. Gibbs, Stockton.

Northeast district, J. A. McDonald, Rhineland.

North central district, G. J. Harris, Cameron.

Northwest district, S. H. Williams, Bar.

Potato Prices Sliding.—Potato prices paid to Wisconsin growers are already sliding, B. B. Jones, of the state department of markets, says after an inspection tour of the potato districts of the state. Farmers face a serious marketing problem as a result of the bumper 27,000,000 bushel crop, in his opinion.

Before the shipping season is well under way prices paid growers have fell to 55 cents for the lower grades, with prospects for a continued decline as the season progresses. Mr. Jones advises farmers to offer only the best grades of their potatoes for the market in an effort to keep the prices at a level that will bring them a paying return. Dumping of the entire crop might send prices to an extremely low level, he says.

Shipment of Wisconsin potatoes has been commenced and will continue through the winter months. Strict grading regulations are being applied at shipping points to assure the maintenance of a standard quality.

WILL PROTEST RACE AWARD.—St. Louis, Mo., a protest will be made against awarding first prize to Lieut. Ernest De Myster of Belgium in the international balloon race, which started from Geneva Aug. 5, Capt. H. E. Honeywell, who was awarded second prize, announced today. Captain Honeywell returned home Wednesday night.

The Dinner on the Diner and the Coffee afterwards

An overland trip on a through train deluxe is a journey that is never forgotten. On such a trip the dining car is the chief attraction. For there you sit with all the time in the world and settle down to the delights of your repast, while America unrolls her scenic beauty before your eyes.

The meals must be good on trains deluxe [that is the rule] and the coffee must be surpassingly good [that is the law].

And the coffee on such famous trains deluxe as the Panama Limited of the Illinois Central R. R. is Thomas J. Webb Coffee, of course.

You may have this same good coffee in your home—just get it from your grocer. You pay no more for it than for ordinary coffee. In fact, it is an economical coffee, for you get more cups to the pound. Try it!

Thomas J. Webb COFFEE

"A superior BLEND so good that it takes pride in giving it my own name and personal endorsement!"

Judges of good coffee pronounce a distinct advance in the science of coffee roasting and blending.

Head every energy to finish the high school building as it may be used before the end of 1922. With the completion, the problem of a county center will be solved. Janesville needs and should have ample hotel facilities to care for the public. That will be the best way to attract business to the city and the auditorium is available for the largest conventions.
Finish the city hall. The city hall is a disgrace to the city and the necessary repairs should be made as soon as there can be. The necessary repairs should be made as soon as there can be. The necessary repairs should be made as soon as there can be.
Give the city a park. There is now available $10,000 for this purpose and it should not be used for any other. Finish the city and county plans.

THE SCARCITY OF COMMON LABOR.
With the return of the shopmen and all business stimulated to a high degree we are confronted with a shortage in the lines generally known as "common labor"—the unskilled labor that is of the utmost importance in industrial and commercial life. Prior to 1913 we were getting close to a million immigrants a year from Europe and of that number the bulk in recent years has been of a character that recruited the army of the unskilled. Last year we received 200,000 immigrants and the year before about 400,000. While some, a large majority in fact, who come here and do unskilled work, wheel the ashes and dig the earth, remain at the job, another percentage of laborers, as soon as they have saved a capital, go into business for themselves or return to Europe, where a few dollars will enable them to live in comparative comfort. Others grow old and are unable to work longer at the hard labor and still others follow the course of nature and die. So gradually we have been diminishing the army of common labor and the replacements from immigration have been few. We are on the eve of entering a great experiment in economics as to whether, with demand far greater than supply for this class of labor, the wage scales will go to uncertain heights and industries bid against each other for men, or production will have to be curtailed for want of laborers. Then too, we face another problem and that is, with depression there is enough labor to get around with some left over, and unemployment problems again. It would seem from the outlook now that there will be no unemployment problem this winter and that we shall be hunting every market for laborers. Loading will be a crime in 1922-23.

Chute the coal.
SETTLEMENT OF THE STRIKE.
That an end has come to the strike of the shopmen is good news for the nation. It ought to be a lesson, but there are several thousand other lessons of a like character unheeded. But the lesson should be coined into that sort of an agreement on the part of the employers and the employed which will make a strike unnecessary in the fixing of wages. Here is the basic difficulty. It is not a matter that can be approached from the viewpoint of a vote-seeker but in the broader humane sense and capable of standing the economic test. Here in Janesville we shall be glad to see the men back at work and the pay roll functioning once more.

Henry ought to be able to get the coal into his bins before Christmas.
NOT A WET REFERENDUM IN WISCONSIN
A careful analysis of the vote in the recent primary here reveals the fact that the wet and dry questions were not at all decisive factors. In the same districts where leading wets won and had a heavy vote, dry candidates also went through successfully providing they were hypenated with the leaders. In the west side of the state is a large population of Scandinavians who are on a real issue dry—bone dry in fact, and yet the candidates who are declared by the wets to have been nominated because of wet tendencies, were given heavy majorities in those sections. By no manner of argument may it be declared to have been definitely settled that the state is wet. It may be so and that is still a mooted question, but to declare that the state is wet on the primary returns is to take a running jump at a guess.
Leaders in the society for the repeal of the 15th amendment are quite emphatic in the declaration that the vote sustains that society's position. This is based on the success of leaders on the ticket who were declared to be wet and safe for wet legislation. If that is so how does it come that candidates in the same counties running on a dry platform were not defeated when that was the leading issue? It is not necessary to look at Rock county but to go into the senatorial district of Henry Severson. The latter is a dry leader, author of the Severson bill, more drastic even than the Matheson bill and yet Severson won rather easily. There are numerous other examples in the state. For the purpose of settling just what Wisconsin stands on the liquor question it may be said that the primary has determined nothing. Women leaders of the W. C. T. U. and other organizations in some places voted for Blaine, advertised as a wet. This in itself is sufficient to sustain the statement.

NEWBERYISM IN MICHIGAN.
Like the old story of the milk sickness—it was always over in the next county—the case of Newberry as a political issue is of greater importance elsewhere than in Michigan. It was an issue there raised largely against Senator Chas. E.

FOOD POISONING CASES
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington.—Here is a type of newspaper heading long familiar to the American public—"Seven of Family Ill After Eating Canned Soup." The average reader shakes his head over the item and wonders if the restaurant where he ate his lunch served him canned or fresh vegetables in that salad. He decides that he will be careful about eating canned stuff at home.
For the average person that is the end of the affair. He forgets about the sick family, but the news item has deposited in his mind a little more of the sediment that makes up for him the deep-seated conviction that canned food is cheap, sure, hazardous and sure to be partaken of only at one's peril.
The publication of such an item, however—and dozens of such items are published every year in the American newspapers—is only the beginning of an episode for an organization maintained in Washington by the packers of commercially canned foods. This organization, the National Canners' association, occupied for the most part with problems in science, now constitutes an investigation bureau. Its agents get quickly on the job—within 24 hours, if possible. If the case is a serious one, difficult of solution, it will call in the services of some specialist from one of the great universities. The investigation will probably end in a laboratory somewhere.
But by whatever means the investigation is conducted, the chances are that the canned foods blamed will be shown to be innocent and the illness laid to some other cause. As to the sick family cited above, the chemist's test tube demonstrated that the illness was due to some unwholesome meat served at the meal. The canned soup was perfectly wholesome.

The fact is that commercially canned food today is the victim of a legend. Whether there was ever any basis in fact for the belief that such food is dangerous, there certainly is little basis for it now. The unmitigated evil reputation of tinned food is kept alive today principally by doctors, either through ignorance or carelessness. A family suddenly becomes ill, obviously the victims of poison. The family doctor inquires immediately what the members have eaten. If by any chance canned food of any sort has been on the menu, it is enough. The doctor promptly names the culprit and the newspapers have another sensational item. The doctors may not know that science has now shown that the presumption of guilt lies just as heavily, if not more heavily, upon the fresh food eaten by the patients. Indeed, it is probably a safe statement that fresh foods today are more likely to be unwholesome than canned foods. The laboratory of the Harvard Medical School has already demonstrated this fact.
A few years ago the leading food canners of the country, believing in the purity of their product and suspecting that many of the published instances of canned-food poisoning were unfounded, determined to make independent investigation of all cases reported in the newspapers. They had organized the National Canners' Association, and they charged this body with the responsibility of getting at the truth. The subsequent investigations have shown that there is no surprise in the small number of bona fide poisonings, particularly when it is considered that the American public consumes hundreds of millions of tins of food every year.

Every canned-food-poisoning case reported in the newspapers for the last dozen years has been carefully investigated by this association, and practically all have been found to be spurious. The things that get into the newspapers as cases of poisoning by canned food nearly always prove to be cases of acute indigestion, of excessive eating, of foreign substances getting into food while being prepared, or the use of dirty, hooking utensils, of deliberate fraud or as it happened once, even a leaky gas pipe in a dining room.
As a grim by-product of these investigations, four murders have been uncovered by the agents of the association and one case of such a revealed. One woman poisoned her husband by putting Paris green into canned sardines. The sardines themselves were blamed for the death until the canning experts found the administered poison. A woman committed suicide, and the physician to save her family from disgrace, declared that she died after eating canned tomatoes.

A more sensational episode occurred in the case of a small child, died supposedly of food poisoning from canned food. The account of the death was published and accepted as the truth, and the case was apparently closed. The scientists of the Canners' Association kept on, however, and found evidence that a dose of strychnine had been administered to the child. The mother was finally confronted with the evidence. She admitted the truth and then before anybody could stop her, she leaped from the window and was killed.

Another false idea that has gained wide credence is that ptomaine poison is likely to occur in canned foods. Five years ago, research into food poisons began at four great American universities—Harvard, Stanford, University of California, and University of Chicago. After five years of research they have yet to find a case of food containing ptomaines. The reason is that no such thing as ptomaines exist. That theory has been thoroughly exploded by investigations. There are other food poisons, but they are not ptomaines. The detection of false poisoning reports, however, is but a small part of the work of the men in the canners' laboratory in Washington. Their chief duties consist of investigations looking to the improvement of containers and to the processes of food preservation. Dr. N. D. Bigelow, formerly of the United States Bureau of Chemistry, is the head of the laboratory.
These men who work constantly with canned foods and who understand better than anyone else the gravity of a genuine case of food poisoning, are themselves consumers of canned food. They know the conditions in the canneries today and they have confidence in the product. Moreover, when they sit at table they take with them an apparatus which enables them to tell whether food is wholesome. Everyone who reads this possesses the same equipment—one's own senses.

To quote the tobacco advertisement—your nose knows. The advice of the canning experts to the general consumer is simple. Do not buy a tin of food that looks, smells, or tastes unlike the standard product, even though the taste or smell be not unpleasant. Throw the whole thing away and take no chances. If all consumers did that, the small number of genuine food-poisoning cases would be reduced to almost nothing.

Townsend, special advocate of Newberry in the conflict over seating the senator. One candidate for the senate, former Congressman Pat Kelley, made his fight on Townsend on this issue. Barker, the radical candidate was also strong in his denunciation of Townsend over the Newberry case. But it did not work in Michigan and in spite of every effort Newberryism was sidetracked in the determination of the electorate to defeat radicalism. Even in Detroit the labor vote was largely given to Senator Townsend. To the Michigan mind Newberryism was a dead duck, a past tense case, a settled incident and the menace of radicalism which we so invitingly accept here in Wisconsin overshadowed all else. That the Newberry case will be raised when Newberry's term is ended in another two years and he appears for reelection, may be true. The state will have an opportunity then to punish him as he deserves. This year if we may read the election reports right, it was a rag baby, and not a living child.

It is to be hoped the frost will stay off the pumpkin until after the Harvest Festival.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST
GETTING ON WITH MYSELF.
Getting on with my neighbor is easy enough, getting on with myself is the harder part. I want to reflect the grim tasks I must do, for the pleasure that I would rather; I can live by my neighbor year in and year out with never occasions to grumble. But I have to give battle each day to myself to force him to tasks that are humble.

My neighbor is perfectly willing to do what is right without word or discussion. I'm never compelled to force him to be fair or his little shortcomings. But time after time I must fight with myself, as hard as an enemy could, to make myself see what is proper for me and make myself do what I should do.
There are duties unpleasant which ought to be done, but unless I am driven I spurn them; I am eager for ease and the pleasures of life, but I find I'm not eager to earn them. My neighbor with me is as fair as can be, with him it's a joy to be living. But the thought often comes as I think of myself that I'm taking far more than I'm giving.
Getting on with my neighbor's no trouble to me. He is friendly and cheerful and kind. It's my ways which give me the greatest concern, my habit of going it blindly. My neighbor and I have no quarrels at all, his faults I give over to God. But day after day I say it's a struggle with me to make myself do as I ought to.

SOME THEATRE FALLACIES.
That every manager goes around with a pad of blank papers and a fountain pen in his pocket. That David Belasco puts his plays on for artistic purposes only and never makes a cent. That the actress is no good unless she is a graduate of a stock company which played in barns and schoolhouses. That all the snobbish young men in box offices are members of aristocratic families and far above the vulgar for socially. That orchestra members all go for a drink when they duck down under the stage. That stage carpenters are so blasé that they never look at a show or a new flapper in the cast. That every performer suffers starvation and frost-bite when he goes on tour. That every person who gets a good seat at a show has a pull with the manager.

CONFESSIONS OF A CYCIC.
I never repeat risqué stories. I cannot remember them. I am not unreasonably fond of the best Mexican I ever heard of. I think there must be something wrong with a man who wears a derby hat all summer. I would like to live on a farm if it were located in the city. I dislike men who add "Thanking you in advance for the favor" to their letters. I could never fall in love with a woman who uses a lipstick in public. I always feel like a boob when I keep my hat on in an elevator full of ladies. I think women will vote as intelligently, if not more intelligently than men. I don't like kitchen gardening, nor cold plunges in the morning. I never envy a writer any money he can get.

Dancing teachers, in convention assembled, hailed the return of the long skirt with much jubilation. Putting on one's skirts meant that all the girls will have to learn all over again. Also the dancing masters hailed with delight the return of the old fashioned waltz. Nearly everybody dancing now will have to learn to waltz.

Who's Who Today
BRIG. GEN. H. J. BANDHOITZ.
If Brig. Gen. H. J. Bandholtz goes to the Philippines to succeed Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood as governor general of the islands, it should be just like a trip home for him.
Bandholtz served a number of years in the islands in a military capacity, as a provincial governor and as chief of the Philippine constabulary.
Bandholtz is a friend of Max Baucus, president of the Philippine senate, and as Quizon is highly regarded by his countrymen. Bandholtz's appointment doubtless would be popular.
The general is fifty-eight and a graduate of West Point. He has seen thirty-two years of service in the army. He commanded various units in the Spanish-American war and the Philippine insurrection.
His record for service during the insurrection and the troublous times following it is remarkable.
During the world war Bandholtz served as provost marshal general for the A. E. F. and later was a member of the inter-allied mission to Hungary in 1919. In 1921 he suppressed the West Virginia miners' insurrection.

Personal Health Service
By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
THE GUMMAY TONSIL.
When there is an acute sore throat or tonsillitis. At present no physician or specialist can positively assert that tonsils presenting one or more of these evidences are guilty of causing the patient's health impairment, whatever it may be. The diagnosis of disease of the tonsils or adenoid body is a problem calling for the most skillful medical care, and the treatment of diseased tonsils is likewise no out-and-out affair to be done at wholesale.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Please tell me what you think of the diet suggested in the chart herewith enclosed, for an eight months baby. (Mrs. A. C. Little.)
Answer.—The pamphlet you enclosed is issued to be published by the American Public Health association, with the endorsement of the children's (Pediatric) department of the medical college of the University of Minnesota. The diet suggested for a baby eight months old is as follows:
10 a. m. Breast feeding.
10 a. m. Cooked cereal (Cream of Wheat, farina) and breast feeding.
1 p. m. Cooked vegetable (carrots or spinach), toast and bread and breast feeding. (The broth should be made with rice.)
4 p. m. Cooked cereal (same as 10 o'clock feeding), breast feeding.
10 p. m. Breast feeding.
Such a diet could not be improved upon, though it might be modified for some infants. In fact the whole series of diets suggested in the Minnesota Public Health association's chart, for infants of all ages up to two years, are excellent and residents of Minnesota are fortunate in having such information available.
Please tell me which is best for adults and children, raw milk from tuberculin tested cows, or hard-boiled eggs, or a cleanly way and humiliated, hotly and cooled and kept cool until delivered, or pasteurized milk from various sources, heated about in open tin milk cans and delivered by a milkman who is personally dirty. We have heard of the former, but a seller called at the house and assured us the pasteurized is safer, and he offered to give us a premium set of silver spoons. If we would take the pasteurized milk in place of the other. (Mrs. C. C. Little.)
Answer.—The raw article from tuberculin-tested cows would be my choice, unless the pasteurized milk had been given to throw in a house and lot and a ton of coal with his milk. Tubercularities of all disease germs, but doesn't poison life.

Q. Is it true that water itself is intoxicating? E. J. H.
A. Water in excess is an intoxicant, according to Science Service. With the aid of an extract from one of the ductless glands and also without such assistance in locomotion, Dr. Leonard G. Rowntree of the Mayo Clinic has proved that excessive water drinking by either humans or animals may result in intoxication.
"Water intoxication," as nature has provided against the accumulation of water in the body in poisonous amounts. Through thirst the intake of water is regulated to the body's needs. Unless the intake is intake in excess the output through the kidneys and the skin takes care of the surplus. In order to control the intake, an extract from a special ductless gland at the base of the brain was used. Under the influence of this drug the patient kept drinking water until he developed marked headache, nausea, staggering gait, instead of muscle and inability to stand or walk, which lasted for a few hours. The same process was tried with dogs with equally striking results. The convulsions of water poisoning are cerebral in origin and of extreme violence at times, usually lasting from 1 to 10 or 15 minutes.
Q. Please define domestic science, domestic art, household economy, household management, household administration and home economics? L. E. H.
A. Domestic science is that science which pertains to the preparation of food; domestic art is that activity which concerns the making of hats and garments; household economy is the practical system whereby household affairs are managed; household management is the science of the domestic or household economy; household administration is the oversight of the activities connected with the

WAX DRESSED WHILE YOU WAIT
"I didn't get hardly any sleep at all last night on account of burnings current in the wires, and a drowsy driver" complained Mrs. Elford Hoots, this morning. "My, how the summer has slipped away," sighed Mrs. L. B. Paul, today, who's been keepin' tab on the McNeekles.

PLAN NEW BOARD FOR WATER PLANT

Statutes Call for Control Board to Manage All Municipally Owned Utilities.

Relieving the board of public works from management and supervision of the city water department, a new board of five commissioners is expected to be elected by the city council, Monday night to have charge of all affairs of the municipally owned utility. The

SMILE FOR ECONOMY!

It takes sixty-five facial muscles to make a frown and only thirteen to make a smile. What a lot of wear and tear we can save our faces by looking pleasant.

The economic value of the smile lies in the fact that a smiling countenance opens the way to things that give us fresh cause for smiles. Purely as a business asset—to say nothing of its function as a genuine expression of kindly feeling—the smile is priceless.

It is the key to better business because it is the key to human hearts. Smile for prosperity!

commissioners will take office, Oct. 1. This is in accordance with the new general charter law applicable to all second, third and fourth class cities of Wisconsin and under which Janesville has been operating since Jan. 1, 1922. The statute makes it compulsory for boards to be appointed to control and supervise utilities owned by the city.

To contain five members, the board is to be nonpartisan, elected by the council, and containing either three or five members. It has been practically decided to make the new Janesville board a five man proposition and the terms of office five years. It is decided to have only three men the terms would be three years. In order to have one vacancy occurring each year, the first appointments will vary from one to five year terms.

While the board shall take entire charge and direct the management of the utility, appointing the manager and fixing his salary, no construction work will remain under the immediate supervision of the board of public works. The new board may command the services of the city engineer at any time and may employ and fix compensation for subordinate employees.

To Work Changes Here? What changes the new plan will work here is a matter of conjecture. Under the present system, the board of public works is in general control of the water works. City Engineer C. V. Kerch is manager, for which he receives $600 in addition to his salary as city engineer, and J. A. Griffey is general superintendent.

The board is expected to meet soon after October 1 to elect a president and secretary and organize for work.

Works, professor at Cornell University, will address the meeting telling of the accomplishments of Mr. Harvey.

BUILDING CONTRACTS LARGER IN WISCONSIN

August building contracts in Wisconsin amounted to $3,344,800, according to the J. V. Dodge company. This figure is 48% over that of the corresponding month last year, and only 5% under that of the previous month. Included in the August totals were: $2,016,300, or 32% for residential buildings; $1,315,000, or 21% for hospitals and institutions;

LARGE REST ROOM SECURED FOR FETE

Old Phone Exchange Taken Over by Women for 2-Day Festival.

To assure adequate facilities, the entire building at Dodge and Jackson streets, formerly occupied by the Rock County Telephone company, has been taken over by the Federation of Women's clubs of Janesville as a women's rest place for the two days of the harvest festival and homecoming, Sept. 22 and 23. This will give two entire floors with every facility for the comfort of women and children visitors.

Announcement was made Friday that Rebekah Lodge No. 171 will open a dining room at West Side Odd Fellows' hall on West Milwaukee street during the fete. Coffee will be served to those bringing their own picnic lunches.

SEND AN INVITATION Twenty thousand post card invitations will be mailed within the next few days boosting the festival. They may be procured free at the Chamber of Commerce. Janesvillites are asked to call and get several and mail them to friends out of the city, bidding them to attend.

FORT ATKINSON

Fort Atkinson.—A good time is anticipated by the members of the American Legion at their annual picnic Sunday, September 17. They intend to go by boat to Charley Bluff on Lake Koshkonong and spend the day.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Dohmeier and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Haumerson spent Thursday in Milwaukee. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Imig, Delavan; Mrs. D. J. Ryan, Milwaukee; and Mrs. E. Zeltinger, Waukesha, were dinner guests of Mrs. George Hansen on Wednesday.

The East Matron's club of the East Star was entertained at a 6:30 dinner at the home of Mrs. Louise Kyle Tuesday. There were nine past matrons present.

Miss Peggy Case visited in Milwaukee Wednesday and Thursday. Philip Jones and Miss Mary Jones motored to Jackson, Mich., to spend the week-end with relatives.

Mrs. J. T. Schreiner motored to Chicago to visit Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Schreiner.

Chicago.—Mrs. Maud Shirk, who shot and killed Felix Raabauer in a farmhouse, was held on a charge of murder by a coroner's jury, and $1,025,500, or 16% for industrial buildings. Construction started during the first 8 months of this year has amounted to $25,237,100, an increase of 29% over the corresponding period of last year.

KU KLUX TAKES CHILD WIFE, 13, FROM YOUTH, 22

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The marriage of Miss Cornelia Cook, 13, Independence, Mo., high school girl, has become a matter of interest to the Ku Klux Klan. It was asserted by juvenile court authorities.

Miss Cook married Clarence Poulson, 22, with the consent of her mother, Mrs. Oscar Cook. Shortly after the ceremony, the groom, according to the juvenile court, was visited by a Klan committee, who spent the night in custody of the county marshal for safety.

Meanwhile, the young bride was taken in custody by probation officers and is now in a detention home.

ADMINISTRATION IS JUBILANT AT END OF RAIL STRIKE

Judge Gary's announcement, of higher wages even though it has just been followed by increases in steel prices are welcomed as symptoms of the voters of better times ahead and as a proof, at least, that the downward flight of wages has been arrested and that while here and there certain labor costs must be reduced the number of industries affected will not materially affect the total labor vote.

Republicans have always proclaimed themselves as the custodians of prosperity, though the democrats in 1916 appropriated the slogan successfully. It began to look as if the republicans might keep silent on the question of business conditions and they would have evaded the subject.

Stubborn inflammations usually respond to Resinol if the industrial troubles hadn't been cured. The effect of the settlement of the coal and rail strikes, however, will immediately be to let loose floods of oratorical prediction about the unexampled prosperity that lies ahead. Already Secretary Davis of the Department of Labor has expressed himself in that direction and it is expected that President Harding himself will have something to say on the subject as a means of emphasizing the return to better business conditions.

Incidentally Mr. Harding's cupful of happiness is overflowing—the settlement of the rail strike on the roads which needed their men most—came at a time when the medical bulletins from the sickroom of Mrs. Harding begin to look brighter and brighter. It has been a hard blow for Mr. Harding whose summer has been broken by a thousand and one troubles arising out of congressional confusion and industrial disturbance. The situation in congress still remains a thorn in the side of the president for he must yet tackle the bonus issue which congress against his advice has insisted on putting up to him for decision. The tariff is deadlocked in conference but probably will not stay there long. The chances are the adjournment of congress will not be long postponed. One of the chief reasons for keeping congress here was the emergency arising out of the industrial situation. That has cleared. Only the disposition of the tariff and bonus remains and congress can get rid of both in a fortnight if it chooses.

SEWER STARTEDDrainage Project Begun on Prospect Avenue, from Milton Avenue to Bluff.

In line with the city engineering department's plan of constantly and gradually improving and extending Janesville's storm sewer system, operations have been started in construction of a 24-inch trunk sewer on Prospect avenue, from North Bluff street to Milton avenue. This is the largest storm sewer project of 1922, it being six blocks in length.

The lower end of the street has been practically closed to traffic during the construction. The work is being done by city laborers under direction of Street Commissioner Thomas McKune.

The Prospect avenue sewer is one of several trunk lines proposed for drainage of the Second ward district of the city. The storm of last May did considerable damage to Prospect avenue and other streets in that section because the only drainage was of the surface type, which is inadequate for handling floods of water.

"It is not because of lack of foresight of this department that the city's storm sewer system is not adequate," said City Engineer C. V. Kerch. "On the contrary, we have a plan worked out to provide drainage for the entire city but this work cannot be done in one year or two years. It requires money to build storm sewers and it is not advisable, neither is it possible, to complete the system all at once. Rather it has been the policy to lay aside a little money each year for the construction of storm sewers. We have been completing sections here and there and are gradually getting the main trunk connected up and extended."

The Prospect avenue sewer is being built of concrete pipe, bought from a Detroit concern. The main will vary from 24 to 36 inches in diameter.

Schedule Ready

Opening Oct. 2

The Y. W. Gym schedule for the season 1922-23 was arranged at a meeting of the health committee in the association rooms, Wednesday night. Miss Mary Stuart is health manager. The health education director is Miss Helen M. West.

There will be two terms, beginning, respectively, on October 2 and February 8. The fee for all classes except the Saturday morning children's classes is $1 for each term, which covers class work and medical examination. Y. W. athletics will be free to all gym class members. There are no children's classes. The schedule provides for a number of classes in general physical training, volleyball and basketball, dancing and reducing. High school girls will receive gym training on Tuesday afternoon from 4:30 to 5:30. Grade school girls' classes will be held Saturday morning.

Fix Up Heating
Plants Now, Plea of State Board

"The season for greater use of fire in buildings is approaching," says the state industrial commission in its latest bulletin received here by Mrs. Chief C. Murphy.

"If your whole heating plant such as to keep the fire in the boiler, smokepipes and chimneys are necessary to do this."

"All these become heated, sometimes red-hot, and radiate heat in all directions, and woodwork in contact or near is always liable to be ignited. In building stoves, furnaces and boilers provide a clearance of at least two feet above and on all sides. If this clearance is not present, protect the exposed woodwork with metal over one-quarter inch asbestos board. Metal alone is no protection. It readily heats through. Cover the boiler with asbestos plaster, and the top of the furnace jacket with sand or other heat resisting materials. Never neglect the metal stove pipe to protect the floor and to catch coal and ashes."

"Keep a clear distance of one and a half times the diameter of the smokepipe between such pipe and the joists and all wood or lath-and-plaster ceilings; and a distance equal to the diameter of the smokepipe to any wood work or lath-and-plaster wall or partition on the side. Where such clearance is not present, put in asbestos board and metal protection."

"Woodwork in contact with a 'one-brick' chimney spells danger, and should be cut away and the space filled with asbestos or other heat resisting materials."

"A dirty chimney is always liable to burn out and set your or your neighbor's roof on fire."

"Provide metal receptacles for ashes and fire proof ash bins or store ashes in the open, away from buildings and fences."

"These cautions are simple. Every intelligent citizen knows these facts; he only sleeps—procrastinates. This procrastination costs the state nearly two million dollars worth of property a year and is responsible for the loss of many lives. These dangers are present day and night and a fire is quite as liable to occur at night when the occupants of buildings are in helpless sleep."

"Protect your family and your home."

"The Valley Incomparable" is one name for Yosemite park. The sheer immensity of the cliffs will startle you and please you. The Yosemite falls drop 1,430 feet. Nowhere else this. Information on Yosemite is there such a water spectacle as is shown free by the Gazette-travel bureau.

JAP GROUP NOT PERIL
Washington.—The proposed establishment of a Japanese settlement near Port Moresby, New Guinea, Cal., will in no way jeopardize national defense, in the opinion of a board of army officers assigned to study the question, Secretary Weeks announced.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Phoebe Maxson Carr

Funeral services for Mrs. Phoebe Maxson Carr were held at her late home Thursday afternoon conducted by the Rev. Henry N. Jordan. The remains were laid to rest in Milton cemetery. Mrs. Carr who was taken suddenly and critically ill died at Mercy hospital, Janesville, Tuesday morning following an operation.

Phoebe Isabel Maxson, the eldest daughter of Nathan and Susan Wells Maxson, was born at Alfred Center, now Alfred, Allegany county, New York, October 3, 1845.

Her parents were among the early settlers in southern Wisconsin, coming to Rock county when Phoebe was about five years old. They located in the western part of Milton township on what is now known as the Alexander Paul estate.

In 1860 Phoebe entered Milton Academy and continued her studies in the institution for several years. Milton Academy and College have always been very near to her interests and have had her loyal support. This was especially shown in her activities in behalf of Whitford Memorial hall.

While she was in her girlhood she entered upon an active christian life. She was baptized by Rev. Varnum Hull and united with the Seventh Day Baptist church of Milton, in whose fellowship she remained up to the time of her death.

On October 17, 1863, she was married to Joseph G. Carr of Milton. The young couple began their home making on the farm known as Oaklawn. Five children were born into this home. Fred M. of Milton Junction; Anna (Mrs. J. E. Hinman), Milton; Joseph L., Kingsley, Okla.; Alice (Mrs. Fred E. Campbell) of Milton and Maud E. who died in infancy.

Mrs. Mary Burdick, St. Chicago, a sister, ten grandchildren, and seven great grandchildren survive.

Twenty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Carr moved to Milton village. On March 11, 1915, Mr. Carr after a brief illness passed away.

Mrs. Carr always showed a deep interest in the religious, educational, cultural and civic affairs of Milton. She was a prime mover in the organization of the Village Improvement club that exists and works for a more beautiful and attractive village. She was passionately fond of flowers and was interested in beautifying the school grounds and other public places. She was an active member of the King's Daughters and of the church circle No. 2.

For ranges of the order of 200 miles," it is added, "we consider the position more hopeful, and it seems that the lines of experiment which are being followed will lead to the development of a system of radio-telephony which will approach, approximately at any rate, the requirements of a commercial system. No means at present are known by which any appreciable secrecy can be obtained for a conversation taking place at certain ranges."

Radiophone Still in Infancy, Claim

London.—It has become apparent that the wireless telephone is still in its infancy, and that a considerable advance in invention must be achieved before it becomes really satisfactory as a means of broadcasting or for other purposes. This is the conclusion of the Radio Research Board's sub-committee, whose report has just been issued.

"We consider that the development of radio-telephony for long ranges is in an extremely elementary stage and we see no line of development which would be likely to lead to its establishment on a commercial basis within a measurable period," they say.

"For ranges of the order of 200 miles," it is added, "we consider the

Pancho Villa, Orient Hero, New U.S. Flyweight Champ

Copyright 1920 by Geo. McManus

BUFF'S FOLLOWERS THROW IN TOWEL TO HALT KNOCKOUT

New York.—Pancho Villa, sensational Philippine boxer, who won the American flyweight championship Thursday night by scoring a technical knockout over Johnny Buff, of Jersey city, in the 11th round of a 15 round match at Ebbetts Field, will not seek a match with Jimmy Wilde of England for the world's title. Villa demonstrated his superiority over the best of the American 112 pounders by outboxing and outpunching Buff decisively. Buff, in the opinion of ringside experts, showed the effects of illness which he lost him out of the ring since he kept the world's bantamweight title to Joe Lynch of New York and was unable to match the battering attack launched by the Philippine champion. Three times in the 11th round and was ready to deliver a knockout blow when Buff's seconds tossed a towel in the ring and the 11th round in acknowledgment of defeat.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR
THOSE who are moaning over the one-con rule in high school athletics are given a nice pointer by a Madison man who writes to a newspaper in the Capital city, signing as "The Bat Boy." Many have been in the habit of slandering the one-con rule as hurrying chances of forming good athletic teams.

THIS man says "the one-con rule is not even an obstacle or a barrier to championship teams. But rather it is a stepping stone over the obstacle of mental uncondition. And in any game, be it tag or checkers, baseball or football, condition of mind is just as important as condition of body. Allowing a student to slide through his studies and engage in sports is not furnishing a foundation for a coach to work on. The man with the hard head is fast being replaced by men that can think fast and accurate, and where is a better place to start than in school?"

MORE power to "the bat boy." He swings clever pen. He hits the natter straight between the eyes. Every newspaper in the state should reprint what he has to say. Every school should circulate it, for among its athletically inclined students.

COOPERATION between branches of the U. S. C. A. of Wisconsin to bring about a uniform program of athletic activities was urged at the recent meeting of physical directors. They have come to a decision which the public has seen for a long time. The start should be made between Beloit and Janesville.

GAMES, with the exception of football, are beneficial for girls. This is the report of a special English committee after a thorough investigation. It was made by 233 doctors, 185 head school mistresses and 154 women students. Lacrosse, cricket and swimming are considered the most beneficial for developing a broad and healthy outlook on life and giving courage and resourcefulness. In addition, the physical changes of married life are benefited.

BRINGING UP FATHER

New Purple Coach Quiet on Outlook for Season

Chicago.—With only a handful of veterans available, Coach Glenn Thistlewaite, starting his first year as mentor of Northwestern university football eleven, faces anything but a rosy prospect for development of a winning team. Beyond the statement that every effort will be made to mold a strong eleven, Coach Thistlewaite would make no prediction.

"I want the players to start the season with all the hope and optimism in the world," was the new coach's comment. "I want this spirit to prevail and grow. In the end it will mean winning games."

Comes Well Praised
Coach Thistlewaite comes to Northwestern with a brilliant record and his work will be watched with interest this season. The football eleven he coached at Oak high school easily won a majority of the championships in the last few years.

The new coach will have the services of eight members of last season's team as a nucleus for the 1932 squad. The following players will be available, according to latest report: Henry Penfield, tackle; Jimmy Patterson, captain of the team, who plays fullback; Ollie Dahl, guard; Erwin, also a guard; Rambo, tackle; McElwain, end; Blumenthal, also a good quarterback; Chuck Palmer, the reliable half-back; Weencke, captain of last year's freshman team, whose natural position is fullback; Davis, tackle; and Hanson who likes the quarterback position.

Has High Hopes
Coach Thistlewaite sent letters to these players, urging them to be on hand early with the idea of getting into good physical trim. Palmer and one or two others have been doing guard duty at swimming beaches and are in splendid shape. Glen Magnuson, who suffered a broken leg last season, and who was expected to be able to get into the game this fall, is still limping a bit and is not counted on by the coach to play.

"I have no predictions to make," Coach Thistlewaite said Friday. "I have hopes, however, of splendid backing both on the campus from the students and beyond the campus from the thousands of Purple graduates."

RAIN FAILS TO STOP FAIR CROWD

Throngs at Jefferson County Fair in Spite of Wet Grounds.

Jefferson—Although the grounds were wet Thursday on account of the heavy rain of the day before, the crowd at the Jefferson county fair was much larger than expected. About 5,000 people passed through the gates Thursday, and it is expected the attendance for Friday is expected to pass 15,000. Owing to the conditions of the track there were no races and according to Superintendent of Speed, W. E. Cupp, they will all be completed Friday, unless weather conditions prevent. The ball game scheduled to be played at 10 o'clock in the morning between Fort Atkinson and Waterloo Legion was called off. The display of fireworks were touched off in the evening and the free performances given. Friday, Jefferson county day, is expected to be the feature day, and is expected to be the largest day of the fair. The various departments are all filled. The poultry department especially surpasses that of any other year, about 3,500 fowls being on exhibit. The large poultry building was not large enough to accommodate them all and extra tents had to be erected. There are 12 booths in the educational building. The agricultural school exhibit is the best the county has ever produced. Some of the finest work in art is on display in the art building. The hand painted work is especially beautiful. The educational exhibit entries are large and better than any year in several years. The special features are the drawings and writings and the domestic science department. Manual training is emphasized and exhibits are made by

Lake St., Chicago, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Belief That Fire Was Incendiary

The town of Bradford is talking about an incendiary fire which started on the evening of September 8 and it is believed that the mystery has been cleared up. No arrests have been made yet. On the farm of Mrs. Helen Barless, a resident of Janesville in the town of Bradford, Russell Parent, son-in-law who operates the farm was disturbed by a light on a side near an old barn and shed. He noted that the fire flash continued even when the lightning was not playing. Investigation showed that a fire was burning close by the barn and also near a straw pile. Near by was an empty pail smelling of kerosene and in the kerosene. Investigation was made and it was clear that an attempt had been made to burn the buildings. With the sweep of the wind and the proximity of the other barns and buildings the whole farm plant worth many thousands of dollars, would have gone up.

LACK OF CONCRETE BALKS ROAD WORK

Conditions Much the Same as Week Ago, Says Highway Report.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Milwaukee—Due to the lack of concrete and the heavy rains of the last week, road conditions have remained largely the same and few of the many remaining construction jobs have been opened up, the Milwaukee Journal's tour department week end review says. Continuing the reports reads: "However, highway 61 can now be used to Mukwonago, as the concrete is completed with the exception of a short stretch in Mukwonago proper. A detour is provided here. "The best route to Lake Geneva is highway 36-24-12. "Highway 15 is open all the way to Madison. There is but one bad stretch just west of Marshall. This is not impassable, however. "For St. Paul, use 15-17-11-12. "The detour on highway 60 still remains, due to the lack of concrete, but with the settlement of the rail strike, there are promises for better things, and small concrete jobs will soon be completed. "Highway 17 is good to Sturgeon Bay but in case of any more heavy rains, use of 15 and 78 is recommended, in that way getting the benefit of the concrete."

WOMEN TO HAVE PART IN NP CONFERENCE

A TRUE RAT STORY

Anuburtown, Tenn., 6-22-22. Dear Sirs: Mr. Robert T. Donnell of Anuburtown, Tenn., came in our store the other day and wanted something to kill rats. So I sold him a box Stearns' Electric Paste. And he put some paste on six biscuits that night and the next morning he found fifty-four big rats. And the second night he put out four more biscuits with paste on them, and the second morning he found seventeen more rats, making a total of seventy-one rats in two nights and there were lots more that he did not find. This is some big rat tale, but nevertheless, it is so. Just thought would write to let you know that your rat paste is good. Respectfully, KENNEDY BROTHERS. Buy a 35c Box Today Enough to Kill 50 to 100 Rats or Mice. Don't waste time trying to kill these pests with powder, gas, or other experimental preparations.
